WELCOME

THE CLAY D' ANGKOR, where modernity and Khmer tradition combine in perfect harmony. Our beautiful new property is ready to welcome guests from 1st November 2015

Our name pays homage to the ancient Khmer tradition of using clay to make kilns, water storage containers and pans for cooking. Many Cambodians believe rice prepared in a traditional clay pan provides a better taste than that prepared in an electronic rice cooker. Clay houses are also used to store rice until it is ready to be cooked or sold. And clay was even used in Angkorian times to help create the channels and embankments providing the water supply for the ancient Kingdom. Choose from staying in a Wooden House, set amongst the most beautiful gardens.
